Not long ago Newsweek carried this message - an urgent reminder which I'm passing along to you.

It no longer matters whether you want to or may LEARN when the spirit moves you. You now have no choice because if you don't learn to read well, you may some morning soon awake in a world where "no English is written any more."

Russia knows and knows well that READING is the key to knowledge and knowledge is power. Consequently, Ivan is spending a lot of time on HIS BOOKS. You had better spend a lot of time on yours. "We...don't want to move the world, but we don't want anyone else to either."

THE BEREA COLLEGE LIBRARY
SERVES THE COLLEGE AND COMMUNITY

The resources of the Berea College Library, numbering more than 135,000 volumes, are open to the institution and to the community. Approximately 650 current periodicals are available in the reading room.

Children of the community are among the most enthusiastic users of the facilities of the library. Much of their interest may be due to the fact that the children's department has a very large collection of books of folk and fairy tales. This collection is kept up to date with selections from the many good children's stories published each year, including the Newberry and the Caldecott awards.

OF BEREA'S
WATERSHED AND FILTRATION
PLANT

A view of Berea's watershed showing one of the three reservoirs and the new filtration plant.
This plant marks the end of a long struggle to furnish water to the College and community.

Berea College was started in a wilderness. If the growing college and community were to have conveniences, the College itself would have to furnish them.
